tonnes of Fenvalerate. This was sanctioned by the Government. subsequently, about two years later Rallis India were allowed expansion of their Fenvalerate capacity by 100 tonnes based on the facts available at that time and the positive policy of the Government to allow further capacity in this field.

(d) Government's present policy is to selectively allow expansion of capacity in Synthetic Pyrethroids and also to allow broad-banding in this field So that companies can produce one or the other of the Pyrethroids within the sanctioned capacity. We have also advised the medium scale company to submit a fresh application for any expansion of capacity that they may need and this will be considered on merits as per the present policy of the Government.

Mark rap on Vitamins
